Application	:	An instant ice pack gets cold when water and urea mix, causing a chemical reaction. The way this is done. We manufacturer the cold packs as a small bag or pouch of water inside a large bag of urea crystals. Following the directions. A user will shake the instant cold pack (to loosen and distribute the urea inside the pack) then squeeze (to burst the inner pouch releasing the water) and then shake again, mixing the contents and creating an instant chemical reaction creating cold.
